Three new neighbourhood offices for town despite cuts

NEW COP BASES IN DIDCOT

PLANS for three new police bases in Didcot have been unveiled to deal with its growing population, despite cuts across the force.

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

The announcement was made last Thursday, October 2, as Thames Valley Police faces £44.6million worth of budget cuts over the next three years.

Didcot is expected to see more than 9,000 houses built in and around the town by 2031.

Both South Oxfordshire and Vale of White Horse District Council has identified Didcot as a growth area for housing.

Deputy chief constable of Thames Valley Police Francis Habgood said despite multi-million pound cuts the force still has to invest to match growth areas.

Leader of Didcot Town Council Eleanor Hards said the three new police neighbourhood offices would be "excellent" for Didcot.

It is unknown where the new police offices would be located but Thames Valley Police say they will be in addition to the current base in Mereland Road, off the Broadway.

DCC Habgood said: "We know the pace of growth is stepping up again, particularly in Oxfordshire.

"At the same time as cutting our budgets we have to deal with a growing population and, in terms of our estates, that is a growing investment.

"We need to think about what our estate requirements will look like moving forward.

"We have to put bids in early and have got some options around neighbourhood offices particularly three in Didcot."

The 3,300-home Great Western Park estate is making progress on the outskirts of the town with 750 properties already occupied.

Meanwhile, Valley Park, which will be in the parish of Harwell but next to Great Western Park, has been earmarked for circa 2,500 homes in the Vale of White Horse District Council's Local Plan 2031.

And sites north and north-east of Ladygrove have long been in the pipeline.

Cllr Hards added: "It is really good news.

"With the expansion of the town it is entirely necessary.

"You can't expect to be able to maintain a policing presence on the basis of the people on the ground."

"Didcot is growing quite fast now."

Cllr Hards added that residents are keen to see a police office based in the main community centre on Great Western Park when it is built.

Mental health care workers in schools

MENTAL health professionals are to be placed in secondary schools across Oxfordshire in a bid to make sure pupils get extra psychological care.

The scheme being piloted by the Oxford Health NHS Foundation Trust sees experts spend time every week in a designated school.

They would speak with children directly at school, as well as discussing with teachers which youngsters would benefit from psychological support.

Dr Mina Fazel, a research fellow from Oxford University's Department of Psychiatry, is part of the team that is developing the programme.

She said: "Evidence shows that we need to start thinking about how to implement mental health services into schools and make them more accessible for young people.

"This is about a specific worker going into specific school at a specific time each week to try and improve the way we work with schools to suit the young people if the kids want to be seen at school."

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Dr Fazel continued: "This is going to be of benefit to all children and Oxford Health has been very committed to try and innovate in this area."

The initiative has been introduced at three schools in the county so far, expanding to seven more in January and all 34 state-funded secondary schools in Oxfordshire within two years.

One of those already taking part is The Cherwell School in Marston Ferry Road, Oxford.

Headteacher Paul James said: "Mental health problems can cause great difficulties for young people and their families, impacting many areas of their lives.

"With this initiative introduced by Oxford Health NHS Trust and working with Dr Fazel and her team, we now have a mental health professional working onsite and more closely with staff and students.

"While it is still early days for this approach, my colleagues report that it is already providing benefits for students who need this support."

Final phase of Southern Bypass work to start

THE contraflow around the outskirts of Oxford is set to move carriageways next week as work continues on the Southern Bypass.

Road works will be moved overnight on October 15 and will signify the final phase of the continued resurfacing and repairs on the road.

Oxfordshire County Council say the works, which are a part of a new 'hamburger' style interchange at Kennington roundabout and traffic-flow measures at Hinksey Hill, is on schedule to be completed on track, by the end of November.

David Nimmo Smith, cabinet member for Transport, said: "I am sure that people will be pleased to see that the work is now entering the final phase, and that we are on track to hit the November completion date.

"The change to the contraflow should not bring any further delays but, as always, we are urging people to plan their journeys in advance and keep up to date with the latest traffic and travel news."

Improvements at the Kennington and Hinksey Hill roundabouts are part of the Oxford and Oxfordshire City Deal with £6million of funding being invested in the project.

The county council says more than 40 people have been working on the Southern Bypass, which is used by 60,000 vehicles a day.

Work also begins on London Road in Oxford on Monday, October 13.

Sex assault

OXFORD: A 22-year-old woman was sexually assaulted in the early hours of September 30 in Magdalen Road.

At around 12.45am she was walking along the road when she noticed a man behind her.

The man, believed to be Asian or Middle Eastern, approached and touched her inappropriately.

If you have any information about the incident call 101 or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Sports awards

OXON: Nominations for this year's Oxfordshire Sports Awards close next Friday, October 19.

It is the ninth year of the awards and organisers are asking for individuals, workplaces, coaches, unsung heroes, volunteers, clubs or teams to be put forward.

MotoGP rider Bradley Smith won sportsman of the year last year, while racing driver Alice Powell won the sportswoman title.

To nominate, visit oxfordshiresport.org/2014-oxfordshire-sports-awards.

Blaze at halls

OXFORD: Students were forced to evacuate their halls of residence on Tuesday after a fire started when cooking was left unattended in a ground floor kitchen.

Fire crews were called at around 6.30pm to Crescent Hall – used by students of Oxford Brookes University – in Crescent Road.

One student suffered burns trying to extinguish the blaze, and was taken to the John Radcliffe Hospital.

Kevin Morgan, crew manager at Slade Park fire station, said: "I would like to take this opportunity to remind everyone of the importance of being vigilant whilst cooking.

"I would also like to remind new students to the universities in the Oxford area to adhere to fire safety procedures."

Rapist of two girls jailed

A MAN from Oxford has been jailed for 13 and a half years for sex offences against two teenage girls.

Craig Preston, 30, of Bulan Road, Oxford, was sentenced on Monday, October 6, after being found guilty by jury at Oxford Crown Court on August 18.

Preston was found guilty of two counts of rape of a girl under 13, one count of attempted rape of a female under 16 and six counts of indecent assault on a girl under the age of 14.

The offences took place between July 1998 and December 2013 in Marcham.

He was sentenced to 10 years in prison for each count of rape and one to two years in prison for each of the indecent assaults which will run concurrently, and a further three and half years for attempted rape.

Investigating officer, Det Con Elaine Durham, said: "The victims have been very brave in speaking out and proceeding with a police investigation.

"The length of this sentence reflects the seriousness of the crimes committed."

He added: "Thames Valley Police will always take allegations of this nature seriously and conduct a thorough investigation and I hope that this conviction will encourage other victims to come forward with confidence."

Pub to be demolished after council decision

A POPULAR back-street pub in Didcot will be knocked down in place of new homes within the next three months.

Wantage-based BPJ Construction Ltd want to demolish The Sprat on Hagbourne Road, and build six homes in its place.

And South Oxfordshire District Council (SODC) made a decision last Thursday, October 2, to grant permission for its demolition.

Ian Sullivan, managing director of agents Ian Sullivan Architecture Ltd, said he imagines the pub will be demolished "in the next three months".

Manager of The Sprat Andy Spiers, 49, previously told the Oxfordshire Guardian that the cloud over the pub's future was a "shame" and "inevitable".

Consultation on the future of The Sprat, which dates back to the end of the 19th century, began on August 7 but it was not the first time it had been under threat of demolition.

Plans for seven homes on the site were refused earlier this year, while Tesco pulled out of a deal in 2013 to buy the pub and convert it into a shop.

Two two-bedroom and three-four bedroom properties have been planned for the site and Didcot Town Council approved the plans on August 26.

Mr Sullivan added that the pub was a in "a state of disrepair" and "not financially viable".

However, town councillor David Rouane, who lives in East Street, off Hagbourne Road, felt The Sprat's viability had not been "sufficiently investigated".

Cllr Rouane added: "Consideration should be given to costs of renovation of the building, and the increased return that this would generate in terms of increased customers, and whether this would make the business viable."

He also said the development would "only add" to Hagbourne Road's congested roads which already relies heavily on street parking.

Local residents were also against the demolition of the pub and the loss of a "community asset".

Sue Such from St Peters Road said: "The Sprat has a huge potential customer base in its catchment area and with proper investment could be very viable."

She continued: "Pubs often support various teams such as darts, pool, aunt sally and also often host competitions in the same sports, therefore The Sprat provides an important community hub."

Tony Rushton and Paula Havlin from East Street added: "The loss of green spaces and public houses are increasing, these resources within the community should be cherished and supported rather than built on."

Council honours

DIDCOT: Commonwealth Games medallists Dan Rivers and Ben Watson will receive mementos at Didcot Town Council's awards evening on November 5.

Rivers won gold and bronze in the shooting, while Watson won a bronze medal in the weightlifting at the 2014 Commonwealth Games in Glasgow in August.

Didcot Town Council's finance and general purposes committee agreed to the idea at a meeting on September 29.

Town clerk Dominic Stapleton said: "I am going to come up with a couple of suitable mementos and we will have them engraved."

At the same meeting a grant aid application of £2,000 from Didcot Parkrun to set up a weekly 5k run in the town was rejected.

Mr Stapleton said: "Members felt the money for equipment would have been put to a national organisation.

"Their biggest concern was that if Didcot Parkrun did not continue then the equipment could be used anywhere else in the country."

Exposure arrest

DIDCOT: A 30-year-old man from London has been arrested in connection with a series of exposures in Didcot on September 4.

The arrest is in connection with incidents between 2.30pm and 3.30pm in Ladygrove Park. He was arrested on September 30 and has been bailed until November 10.

Thieves target fruit machine in burglary

FRUIT machines at a Didcot pub were targeted last month during a burglary.

The Ladygrove in Cow Lane was broken into during the early hours of September 11, but it is unknown whether any money was taken.

Similar incidents occurred at The Lord Nelson in Charlton Road, Wantage, and The Acorn in Pingle Drive, Bicester.

A 40-year-old man from Birmingham was arrested in connection to the incidents on September 13 and has been bailed until October 27.

A spokesperson for The Ladygrove said: "Thankfully it caused minimal disruption and the pub has remained open as usual for our customers.

"As the police investigation is still on-going it would be inappropriate for us to comment further."

Thames Valley Police confirmed the burglaries were not connected to the safe break crime series sweeping South Oxfordshire and the Vale of White Horse.

Over the last few months a gang has stolen safes from businesses in various locations including Wantage, Benson and Frilford.

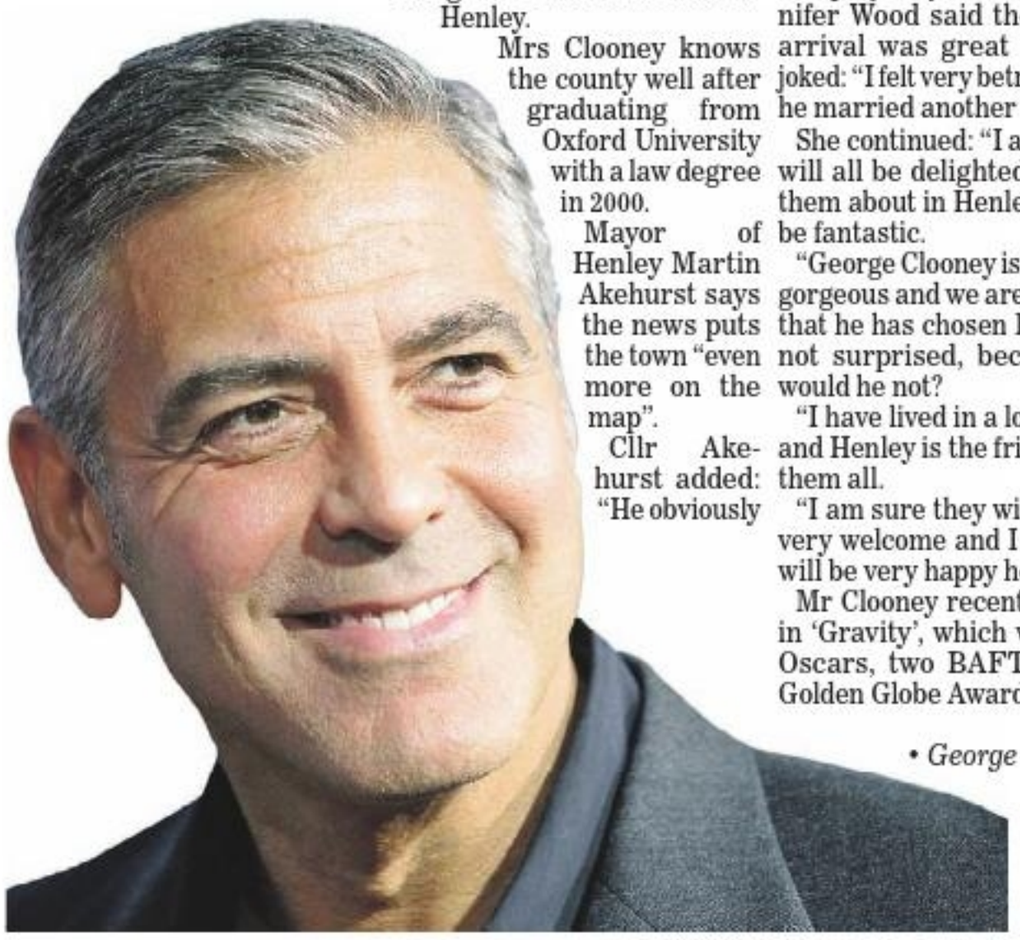
Movie star George buys £5m mansion

HOLLYWOOD heartthrob George Clooney and his new wife have bought a mansion alongside the River Thames in South Oxfordshire.

The 'O Brother Where Art Thou' and 'The Descendants' star, 53, married lawyer Amal Alamuddin in Venice last week.



• George Clooney

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

And on Monday it was revealed he and his British-Lebanese wife splashed out on a mansion thought to cost £5milllion near Henley.

Mrs Clooney knows the county well after graduating from Oxford University with a law degree in 2000.

Mayor of Henley Martin Akehurst says the news puts the town "even more on the map".

Cllr Akehurst added: "He obviously shows excellent taste.

"I have been in Henley for 35 years and I love it to death.

"Everybody knows Henley for the regatta and it is known worldwide.

"I am absolutely delighted he has come to this area. An excellent choice on his part."

Deputy Mayor of Henley Jennifer Wood said the couple's arrival was great news and joked: "I felt very betrayed when he married another woman."

She continued: "I am sure we will all be delighted if we see them about in Henley, it would be fantastic.

"George Clooney is absolutely gorgeous and we are honoured that he has chosen Henley but not surprised, because why would he not?

"I have lived in a lot of places and Henley is the friendliest of them all.

"I am sure they will be made very welcome and I hope they will be very happy here."

Mr Clooney recently starred in 'Gravity', which won seven Oscars, two BAFTAs and a Golden Globe Award.

Tug-of-war raises money for charity

• Firefighters take on Bicester Rugby Club at a tug-of-war outside the Launton Road Aldi store

SHOPPERS in Bicester took on a team of rugby players in a tug-of-war on Saturday, to raise money for children's charity Oxfordshire Playbus.

Visitors to the Aldi supermarket in Launton Road challenged players from Bicester Rugby Club in exchange for a donation to the charity, with £150 being raised in total.

Alice Traish, store operations area manager for Aldi Bicester, said: "We are delighted that so many people from the local community got involved and took on the rugby players.

"As a sponsor of Bicester Rugby Club, we asked them to get involved as a bit of fun while also helping to raise money for a really good cause."

One of the groups that took on the rugby club was a team of firefighters from Bicester fire station.

Station manager Gary D'Anger said: "Saturday was great fun and we're glad we could be part of such a good fundraiser in the local community."

"The tug-of-war definitely turned a few heads and it was great to have Aldi shoppers join in the competition and help raise money for a good cause," he added.

A freedom of information request to Thames Valley Police by road safety charity the Institute of Advanced Motorists (IAM) revealed that 3,580 motorists from abroad were caught speeding between August 2013 and 2014.

Walkers step out for charity hike

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A CHARITY hike which saw more than 100 people walk a 10 kilometre route on Saturday is expected to raise around £10,000 for the Sue Ryder hospice.

The Starlight Hike fundraising walk began at the Sue Ryder hospice in Nettlebed with actor Simon Williams, known for his role as James Bellamy in period drama Upstairs Downstairs, waving the walkers off.

They set off from the Nettlebed hospice at 3pm, walking in a circular route through woodland, countryside and local roads before arriving back.

The quickest walkers were able to complete the course in just under an hour and a half.

Debbie Atkins, a Nordic walking instructor and personal trainer from Swallowfield in Berkshire, was one of the first four walkers to complete the course.

She said: "It was a beautiful route with a great variety of scenery and the sun shone for us!

"I didn't know the man I was walking with at the start, but I was teaching him Nordic walking along the route.

"What I thought was particularly lovely was that the route catered for all levels of walkers."

Other teams that took part included the Onesie Wanderers, a group of girls from Queen Anne's School in Caversham that raised £1,000 by completing the course in the outfits.

Pru Sly, a Sue Ryder fundraiser who organised the event, said: "We are really pleased with the day.

"Despite the dreadful rain in the morning, people turned up ready to have a great time and were rewarded with a fabulous sunny afternoon.

"We were so impressed with the efforts people went to with their fundraising to make the event a real success and we look forward to repeating it again next year."

Gyms set for improvement after takeover

SPORT and leisure company Greenwich Leisure Limited (GLL) will spend £7million on improving centres across Oxfordshire over the next 12 months.

GLL began managing South Oxfordshire and Vale of White Horse District Council's leisure facilities under its 'Better' brand on September 1.

The London-based company signed a 10-year contract in June to manage 11 centres including the White Horse Leisure and Tennis Centre in Abingdon and Didcot Leisure Centre.

And GLL has vowed to invest £7m in the centres, including upgrading gyms and exercise studios.

Better partnership manager Ben Whaymand said: "Over the coming months, our leisure centre customers will see a number of upgrades to their leisure and sporting facilities across both districts.

"In the first year alone almost £7million will be invested to improve a number of our facilities.

"This includes upgrades to gym and exercise studios, 'fast track' entry kiosks for all customers and improved online booking and joining facilities.

"We will also be installing better signage in and around our centres."

Homes approved

BICESTER: A development of 46 homes to be built in South West Bicester was given planning permission by Cherwell District Council last Thursday.

Houses will be built at the site near Middleton Stoney Road, forming part of a larger 1,585-home development that was given the go-ahead by the council in 2008.

Michael Gibbard, Cherwell council's lead member for planning, said: "The development will not cause harm to the locality or impact on the local infrastructure."

The Real Deal

OXFORD: Antiques expert and television presenter David Dickinson will be in Oxford on Saturday as part of filming for his show 'Dickinson's Real Deal'.

Members of the public can bring along their antiques to the Ferry Leisure Centre in Summertown to sell to the dealers, or choose to sell it at auction instead.

Admission is free, and the event is running at the centre from 9am to 5pm.

House fire

KINGHAM: A family managed to escape unharmed after their house caught fire on Saturday evening.

Crews were called at around 6.45pm to the house on New Road and were able to bring it under control.

They believe the fire started in the loft.

The Red Cross supported the family after the fire, whilst salvage operations and sheeting up adjoining properties were carried out by firefighters.

Designs are a winner

VISITORS to the Eynsham Day Centre have had their picture designs chosen to feature in an art trail, being created next to Wharf Stream in the village.

A competition was set up by West Oxfordshire District Council for residents to submit artistic designs that could be carved on to oak posts along the newly-developed Wharf Stream Way trail.

Users of the day centre produced drawings during their weekly meetings, working with artist Alice Walker to create nature-themes designs that would be suitable for carving.

Bryan Duffield, 79, who goes to the day centre, was one of those who had his design chosen for the trail.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

He said: "I've always been a keen wildlife enthusiast and remember wading in ponds as a child.

"As I've grown older I've taken to visiting local nature reserves instead so I took my inspiration from local woodland animals."

Oxfordshire carver Rodas Irving is now working to create the designs on five foot tall oak markers, which will be installed during the autumn.

The trail is a joint project by the district council and Eynsham Parish Council to create the mile-long route, linking Eynsham to the River Thames.

It has been funded by money secured by the district council under planning rules from the nearby housing development of Swinford Green, along with a grant from the Trust for Oxfordshire's Environment.

Warwick Robinson, the district council's cabinet member with responsibility for public art, was thrilled with the winning designs.

He said: "It is pleasing to see the community involvement and the designs for the way-markers are very fitting.

"This project not only helps to recognise the heritage of Eynsham and its surrounding area, but also provides a route to be used for many years to come."

Jane Titchener
Mayor of Wallingford

AS I sit to write this I have been reflecting on some of the wonderful events that I have been lucky enough to attend since my last update.

I was a guest at the Duke of Gloucester's vist to CABI (Commonwealth Agricultural Bureau International) in recognition of their work developing organic solutions for agricultural pests and diseases. I was able to reflect on how lucky we are to have so many businesses and organisations in South Oxfordshire, ensuring that our local economy continues to grow and thrive.

I was honoured to be asked to present campaign and long service medals to some of the service personnel based at RAF Benson. It was fantastic to be able to share the event with them and their families and to say thank you for the work that they do.

It would be remiss of me not to mention the moving ceremony at RAF Benson to disband 78 Squadron as they handed over operational command of the Merlin helicopters to the Royal Navy. This was a unique handover, not just between squadrons but between services – the ceremony was a celebration of all that 78 Squadron has achieved, and an opportunity to wish good luck to 846 Squadron as they move the Merlin Force into the Royal Navy.

Finally, it always gives me great pleasure to support the great work of our local events. I opened Bunkfest, our annual Festival of music, dance, steam and beer, and both Wallingford Carnival and Wallingford Blues & Beer Festival have held their AGM and presentation evenings. Getting the opportunity to visit behind the scenes and meet those involved in putting these events together is a very humbling experience – everyone gives their time freely to put on these events for the benefit of our community. Well done and thank you to all involved.

Speaking of events, the English Civil War Society will be holding a battle re-enactment and living history display in the town next summer. We really do need people to get involved in supporting the event, if you are interested please contact the town office on 01491 835373.

The Woodman Inn, Fernham welcomes new landlord David Bryant

David Bryant and Suki

SINCE becoming the new landlord of the Woodman Inn last July, David Bryant has already made his mark on the beautiful 400 year old country pub. David has refurbished the Inn whilst keeping its traditional appearance along with the wooden beams and two lovely log fires.

David has over 30 years experience in the business. He began his career training as a chef in Switzerland and since then has run restaurants, pubs and wine bars both large and small.

The Woodman Inn prides itself on serving fine ales, selected wines and quality food. It is a Free house, so you know you can rely on finding well-kept real ales poured straight from the barrel.

The kitchen has been updated and was recently given a five star rating by the Vale of White Horse District Council.

Food is served daily and the menu is based upon locally sourced and seasonably available products.

Tuesday night is steak night. Choose from 'The Woodman' 16oz T-Bone Steak, 10oz Ribeye Steak, 8oz Sirloin Steak or Flat beef ribs 'Jacob's Ladder' - traditional and rarely seen, a must try for the beef lover! All served with a choice of garlic & herb butter or peppercorn sauce, gastro chips, home made onion rings, fresh tomato & portabello mushroom.

On Sunday we offer Classic Roasts. All our meat & vegetables are locally sourced and our gravy is crafted from the juices. Plus real home-made Yorkshire puddings on all roasts!

To celebrate the refurbishment there will be a relaunch party on Friday 10th October. Sample our menu and enjoy some live jazz.

The restaurant can cater for up to 50 diners and The Woodman Inn can cater for a wide range of events from wedding receptions to Christmas parties or business conferences.

Courtesy transport for groups of 8-16 guests is available on request in the Woodman Inn's own minibus.

David is looking forward to becoming part of the local community and looks forward to welcoming customers both old and new.

Student researchers given funding boost

MORE than £12million of funding has been given to Oxford University to support the research of 180 doctoral students into food security and animal health.

Government business secretary Vince Cable announced a national investment of £125m from the Biotechnology and Biological Sciences Research Council (BBSRC) last Friday, of which the university has received £12.5m.

Money is being used over the next five years as part of the Oxford Interdisciplinary Bioscience Doctoral Training Partnership (DTP) to help the students' work in the biological sciences.

They will investigate issues such as improving crop yields, developing vaccines for animal diseases, and tissue engineering for medicine.

A further £6m has been provided by the university, colleges and partner organisations for the project.

Dr Gail Preston, programme director of the DTP, said: "We aim to create an environment in which students are exposed to a wide variety of different disciplines, technologies and approaches across bioscience.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"Through our DTP partners, students will have access to cutting-edge facilities at Pirbright, Oxford and the Harwell campus to investigate bioscience solutions.

"Students will be able to draw on expertise across the partnership to tackle important challenges such as the control of viral diseases of farm animals and of viruses that spread from animals to humans."

As part of training, students will complete two 12-week projects before deciding on their research.

They will also undertake a three-month internship to learn the skills required for a bioscience-related career.

Dr Celia Caulcott, BBSRC executive director of innovation and skills, said: "Bioscience is having a massive impact on many aspects of our lives.

"BBSRC is paving the way for an explosion in new economic sectors and bioscience that will change the way we live our lives in the 21st century."

Dog rescued from badger sett

A BELOVED family dog had a lucky escape after he was rescued from a badger sett in Cuddesdon, near Wheatley, having spent two days trapped underground.

Jim, a terrier crossbreed, followed his play buddy Lola down the hole on September 19 but didn't re-emerge.

His family were so anxious that they camped near to where he went missing for two nights in case he resurfaced.

But he was eventually rescued by the RSPCA, where he was found wedged in one of 10 underground holes.

RSPCA inspector Rachel Smith said: "The badger sett was one of the biggest I've seen, with a multitude of entry points.

"It was so large that we couldn't be sure exactly where Jim was.

"He was clearly in a state of shock and had to be dragged out by his owner John and myself.

"Despite having facial, chest and leg wounds he appeared otherwise unhurt, although he definitely smelt like he had spent 48 hours stuck down a badger hole!"

Ready? Set? Run the half marathon

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

SIR Roger Bannister is set to officially start the Oxford Half Marathon on Sunday, 60 years after running the first ever sub-four minute mile in the city.

Thousands of runners are expected to take part in this year's race, which begins at the Kassam Stadium at 9.30am.

And Sir Roger will be signing copies of his new book 'Twin Tracks' ahead of the race, before setting the runners off on their journey.

"The half marathon is a great event and will be a huge challenge for a lot of the runners taking part," said Sir Roger.

"I'm really looking forward to seeing off all the runners and getting to be a part of this fantastic race."

The route takes participants through the Cowley MINI plant, up Iffley Road into the city centre, crossing Magdalen Bridge before returning along the Thames Trail path.

Runners will also run a lap in Sir Roger's footsteps at the Iffley Road track where the four-minute mile was broken back in May 1954.

Half marathon race director Andrew Taylor added: "It is an honour to have Sir Roger starting the race this weekend.

"The story and magic of his achievement 60 years ago was an inspiration to me as a child and young athlete, and I hope it captures the hearts and minds of our runners and spectators on race day.

"Sir Roger will be there cheering on our thousands of runners as they make their way across the start line and we hope that our runners will do the same for him to honour his incredible achievement."

Six bands will play at various positions along the route during the race, covering a range of genres to alternative rock to blues.

Former race director Dave Box added: "We have a fantastic variety of bands lined up this year who are certain to get our spectators on their feet dancing and our entrants running to the sound of the beat.

"We hope that this will spur our runners on to the finish line, helping them to achieve their own personal race goals, whatever they may be."

Oxjam music festival hits city streets for charity

A MUSIC event that not only rocks but also raises money for a city-based charity comes to Oxford this month.

Oxjam Oxford Takeover hits the city's streets on October 18 with five venues hosting 11 hours of music.

It is one of 45 events taking place across the country to raise money for Cowley-based charity Oxfam.

Local bands such as The Dublings, Sinking Witches and Wilful Dream will be performing.

Andy Palmer, Oxjam Oxford festival manager, said: "It's all about people coming to support local music and Oxfam, with it being a Cowley-based charity and it's local gig.

"It will genuinely be an amazing event.

"It was hard to get a really good line-up sorted but I am quite happy with it and I want as many people as possible to hear about it."

For the full line-up and tickets visit oxjamoxford.co.uk.

Oxjam Music Festival takes place every October.

MD puts local company success story down to 'outstanding customer service'

THE New Driveway Company has recently expanded their product range to include resin bonded driveways. Resin-bonding is an exciting new development in driveway installation. Resin-bonded driveways are made of gravel that is bonded together with a special resin which solidifies the gravel layer. This creates a structure on par with that of block driveways, which also aids drainage and permeability.

In the installation process, the resin is applied to either a sub layer of the driveway construction or onto a pre-existing solid surface such as tarmac or concrete. The gravel is then applied on top of this resin in a 'scattercoat' fashion to bond with the resin and harden. The result is a solid, attractive and modular driveway surface that can be applied atop an existing driveway or can be installed as an entirely new replacement.

The resin-bonding process can support a wide variety of different colours and types of gravel and aggregate. Our representatives can suggest and advise you on the best course of action for your property during the consultation phase.

We have opened 2 London offices as part of planned expansion; 1 in North London and the other in Wimbledon; South London. The head office is based at Milton Park in Abingdon, Oxfordshire. We have a dedicated team of 6 full time operatives and we're planning to double this to 12 in the next 12 months!

All staff have recently completed a two day centre of excellence training course on 'resin bound' driveways. This revolutionary product can be laid over the top of existing driveways and is a fantastic addition to our range.

Quote from Darren Field; Managing Director of The New Driveway Company "Our rapid growth is down to our people adding value at every opportunity"

Together with our outstanding product range it's easy to see why The New Driveway Company is growing into such a recognised brand.

Classy exit for college rector after 10 years

EXETER College's retiring rector Frances Cairncross left the Oxford University site in style last week as she was driven away in a 1931 Rolls Royce Limousine.

She was waved farewell by students, fellows and staff on September 30 after 10 years at the college, and will take up the role of chair of council at Heriot-Watt University in Edinburgh at the end of the year.

"I am sad to be leaving this wonderful college after 10 happy years," said Ms Cairncross.

"I have enormously enjoyed the friendship and support of the fellows, alumni, staff and students."

Her role at Exeter College was taken over by Sir Rick Trainor last Wednesday, who was sworn into office at a ceremony in Exeter College's chapel.

Sir Rick becomes the 130th rector at the college.

Leopard cub raised by Burford family

A BABY leopard cub that was abandoned by its mother at Cotswold Wildlife Park is making good progress after being hand-reared by the park's curator.

Nimbus, a clouded leopard cub, was found by keepers abandoned and cold on the exhibit floor after she was rejected by her mother at one day old.

So curator Jamie Craig decided to take Nimbus to his home on the park site near Burford, where he and his family hand-reared the cub to give her the best chance of survival.

"Nimbus will continue to be hand-reared until she is weaned in a couple of weeks," said Jamie.

"She will eventually move into her new home, an enclosure adjoining the park's clouded leopard adults.

"She will remain there until she is big enough to be safely reintroduced to one of her elder siblings."

Nimbus is the first clouded leopard that Jamie has hand-reared.

He has been teaching Nimbus the vital survival skills that she will need in order to integrate with leopards in the future.

Jamie's children Niemi, 10, and Jai, 13, have also been helping with hand feeding and socialising with the cub, with a selection of Niemi's cuddly toys being adopted by Nimbus at her new home.

Clouded leopards are found in the wild in southeast Asia, with only 10,000 adults thought to be remaining in the wild.

Cash boost for nature reserve

OXFORD'S Iffley Meadows is set to benefit from almost £19,000 of funding to help restore 27 hectares of meadow habitat at the site.

The Iffley Meadows Biodiversity Improvement Project will receive £18,874 from environmental charity SITA Trust to help preserve thousands of snake's-head fritillary plants.

Money will be also used by the Berks, Bucks and Oxon Wildlife Trust (BBOWT) to install drainage channels to combat flooding.

Neil Clennel, BBOWT's head of conservation and education for Oxfordshire, said: "The grant will enable BBOWT to do so much more for all the wildlife on these meadows.

"The summer flooding of Iffley Meadows in 2007 caused the land to become waterlogged and prevented BBOWT from looking after this fragile habitat.

"Since then, we re-established the annual summer hay cut and grazing, which resulted in the record count of 84,190 snake's-head fritillaries this spring on one area of the reserve."

Marek Gordon, CEO of SITA Trust, added: "Our panel of biodiversity experts were keen on this project, which clearly focuses on a habitat and species which is scarce in the south east."

Concern over memorial plan

• Bonn Square, the proposed site for a memorial to soldiers who fought in the Spanish Civil War

A MEMORIAL to volunteers who fought in the Spanish Civil War would be 'visually intrusive' and clutter Bonn Square, council officers have ruled.

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

As the Oxfordshire Guardian went to print last night, Oxford city councillors were expected to reject an application to install the stone memorial at a meeting at Oxford Town Hall, St Aldate's.

It was recommended for refusal by council officers for being too big and intrusive.

Twenty-eight volunteers from Oxford and the surrounding area went to Spain to fight in the war from 1936 to 1939, seven of whom died.

The International Brigades Memorial Trust (IBMT) wants to put up a granite stone at the top of the square to remember their sacrifice.

The report, signed by contact officer Felicity Byrne, said there is "already the beginning of a cumulative effect, cluttering what should be an open space" and agreeing to the project would "set an unfortunate precedent".

It added: "Comments are made purely on planning grounds and not against the principle of honouring our servicemen and women."

"However, the proposed development would be harmful to the character and appearance of Bonn Square."

The stone would measure two metres in height, one metre wide, 30cm deep and be installed 60cm away from 1 New Inn Hall Street.

Vice-chair of the West Area Planning Committee, Michael Gotch, said: "If the committee refuses it, it may well be on the basis of its size and that would suggest even at Bonn Square there might be room for a plaque or something more modest in size."

Historians regard the Spanish Civil War as an important prelude to the Second World War, when army generals rebelled against the elected government of the Spanish Republic.

General Franco declared victory for the rebels 75 years ago on April 1, 1939, and remained Spain's dictator until his death in 1975.

Cllr Gotch said he was unsure how the committee would vote.

Speaking before the meeting, he added: "I need to go to Bonn Square and see what I think.

"Whilst this particular application is recommended for refusal, it could be approved.

"The memorial is the size of a single bed and it has got to be right.

"Bonn Square was rebuilt and redesigned and we have got to be very careful with what we do."

The current memorial in the middle of Bonn Square was put up in 1900 in memory of soldiers who died in a 1897 to 1898 battle against rebel tribes in British India.

For an update on the decision see oxfordshireguardian.co.uk or next week's paper.

News Bites

Chain protest

BOTLEY: Campaigners will form a human chain on Saturday in protest of £100million plans to redevelop Botley's West Way shopping centre.

Developers Doric Properties want to knock down the current shopping centre, Elms Parade shops, Field House sheltered housing and the empty Elms Court office block.

In its place would be a new shopping centre, supermarket, cinema, hotel, gym, 50 flats and 525 student rooms.

Hundreds of West Way Community Concern campaigners will form the chain from 11.45am around the current shopping centre.

A planning application for the build has been submitted to Vale of White Horse District Council but has not yet been decided - it is expected to make a ruling next month.

Sewage study

OXFORD: A study of the city's sewage system is set to take place in the near future.

Oxford City Council, Thames Water Utilities and Oxford Flood Alliance will carry out the study.

It will be announced at the Annual Forum of the flood alliance on October 16.

An action plan for the study will be put in place and have to be approved by regulator OFWAT (The Water Services Regulation Authority) before it can be carried out.

Adele's pianist performs first city show with band

TALENTED British pianist Neil Cowley will aim to make jaws drop when he and two fellow band members perform at the Evangelist Church in Oxford on Saturday, October 11.

Jazz pianist Cowley, Evan Jenkins on drums and Rex Horan on bass formed the Neil Cowley Trio in 2006.

The musician, who is classically trained, said: "Actually, when I really think about it, I don't think the band has played in Oxford before, so it's a double debut!"

The 41-year-old has also played the piano for various big-name UK artists including Adele on her albums '19' and '21'.

"I am very proud to be on albums like '21' by Adele for a number of reasons.

"I think my pianistic style suited those records very well and captures a moment in pop history very nicely."

The group have released five albums, with their latest album 'Touch and Flee' being released in June of this year.

"On the day, we will be playing a half of entirely new music from our recent album 'Touch and Flee'," he said.

By James Richings
jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"This will then be followed up with a second half of what we call our 'hits' which should hopefully give everyone the chance to visit both ends of their emotional spectrum."

Cowley, who performed a Shostakovich piano concerto aged 10 at Queen Elizabeth Hall, has also won the BBC Jazz Album of the Year award back in 2007 for 'Displaced'.

The musician explained why he loves playing the instrument.

"I'm better at conveying my feelings through my piano playing than any other instrument.

"When playing in bands, I have followed the advice of my father and laughed my way through the majority of life thus far."

The concert, which costs £15 to £20, starts at 8pm.

It's a two man show

AFTER it's sell-out run on Broadway and four-year stint in the West End, two-hander Irish play 'Stones In His Pockets', is heading to Oxford's New Theatre on Monday, October 13.

By James Richings
jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

The tragicomedy, which has been seen by more than two million people, was written in 1996 by actress and playwright Marie Jones.

The story circulates around two Irish friends; Charlie Conlon (played by Stephen Jones) and Jake Quinn (played by Conor Delaney) who along with their entire town become extras in an up and coming Hollywood film set in County Kerry.

What happens next during the production could get you laughing and crying at the same time, through a powerful storyline.

Jones has only worked in the UK once before.

He told the Oxfordshire Guardian: "I'm really excited to see how UK audiences will respond.

"In every city in Ireland that we played the audience had their own unique reactions to the show, which always is interesting and surprising.

"'Stones In His Pockets' does on one hand seems like an Irish show, but on the other hand it has had major success on Broadway and the West End.

"The subject matter is universal, so I'm confident that we will give people a great night out."

The production was put together by actor/director Ian McElhinney, husband to writer Marie Jones.

Jones added: "They are both lovely people, so I was made to feel very comfortable by them straight away."

"Ian just encouraged me to do my thing during rehearsals.

"Marie and I met on the first day for a meet and greet, but after that I didn't see her again until the opening night.

"She obviously knows Ian will direct the play the right way, as he has done in the past, so she considers her work done and just comes along to enjoy the show."

The UK tour of 'Stones In His Pockets' started on September 8 at the Chelmsford Civic Centre, and will finish on November 22.

The production starts at 7:30pm.

Tickets cost between £10 and £23.40 for the one-night-only show in the city's George Street .

Rock it 'til you drop!

MUSICAL favourite 'Rock of Ages' is in town at the New Theatre from October 21 to 25.

By James Richings
jamesr@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Written by Chris D'Arienzo, the audience will meet aspiring singer Sherrie Christian who travels to Los Angeles to pursue her dream.

In LA she runs into bartender Drew Boley and the two hit a rollercoaster journey of emotions to some classic 1980s tracks.

Cordelia Farnsworth, who plays, Sherrie, said: "She is the best character I have had the chance to play.

"She combines naivety, feistiness, comedy and reality into one character, and the songs are a joy to sing.

"This is a production I have had a lot of fun working on - for me, it's the best piece of musical theatre I have done."

Rock of Ages is a fun and loud musical with classic '80s rock anthems, a love story and a comedy rolled into one.

Farnsworth studied at Tring Park School for the Performing Arts for seven years before taking to the stage as a musical performer - but that wasn't always her route.

"I started off wanting to be a ballerina," she said.

"It was when I joined the National Youth Theatre that I really changed my mind.

"I was able to combine all the things I love - dancing, singing and acting - which meant that I had the best of both worlds.

"I would also love to take my career into television one day."

The 24-year-old added: "I have never been to Oxford before, so I am very excited. I'm really looking forward to exploring the city!"

Tickets cost between £10 and £37.50, with seven performances showing in the five-day run.

Autumn Concerts at the Jacqueline du Pré Music Building

Oxford-born cellist Jacqueline du Pré touched the lives of countless individuals with powerful interpretations of classical pieces.

The famous performer was so influential that she received an OBE in 1976 for services to music and became honorary fellow of Oxford University's St Hilda's College before her death in 1987 aged 42.

And it is in her name that the Jacqueline du Pré Music Building in Oxford is hosting a range of concerts for audiences to huddle indoors over autumn and winter months.

Regarded as one of the finest Liszt players in the world, Hungarian musician Adam Gyorgy will be at the Cowley Place concert hall next Thursday, October 16.

The 32-year-old will perform the works of Liszt, Bach and Chopin, alongside his own composition, "A Day In New York".

The concert starts at 7.30pm and costs between £7.70 to £24.75.

He will be followed by diverse percussionists, Joby Burgess, bringing his sound and video trio Powerplant to the venue on Friday, October 17, at 8pm.

They will be performing a new piece by Goldfrapp's Will Gregory, alongside other works with 360-degree sound, live sampling and immersive visuals. Tickets range from £5 to £25.

After a week-long interlude cellist Steven Isserlis and pianist Kirill Gerstein will take the stage with a concert centred on the cello sonatas of Brahms on Friday, October 24, at 8pm.

A series of cello pieces by Brahms' close musical associates, Dvorák, Bargiel and Zemlinsky all cast interesting light on these well-loved works. Tickets for the evening cost £20 to £35.

To see in November the building will come alive with a 'Moving Music' concert for dementia sufferers to enjoy a programme of classical and light music in a relaxed and informal atmosphere.

The show, on Tuesday, November 4, gives them the chance to sing along with a choir, their friends, family and carers.

DRIVEWAY RENOVATION

We also provide a block driveway renovation service. If you have a driveway that's looking a little worse for wear, and you don't want to go the whole way and replace it, simply give us a call and we can come and restore it to its former glory.

We employ a simple three stage renovation process when restoring driveways - clean, sand and seal. The first stage is a straightforward cleaning of your driveway, removing any accumulated grime and rejuvenating the paving. After this, we sweep sand across your driveway to fill the grooves between the blocks, restoring the evenness and uniformity of your driveway. Finally, when renovating non-permeable driveways, we apply a waterproofing sealant, which aids and abets water runoff and drainage.

Client testimonial July 2014

"Would highly recommend. From Darren giving us the quote right through to the completion, we were kept informed and updated. The team are very hard working, polite and attentive of your requirements. The difference the work has made, makes the front of our house so much better and lots of neighbours have commented on how hard the guys worked and what a great job they have done."

FITZHARRYS SCHOOL

FITZHARRYS School is celebrating record visitor numbers for Open Evening and their week of Open Mornings. Almost 100 families have now visited the Abingdon secondary school during the school day, taking the opportunity to see the students and staff in action in classrooms, laboratories, workshops and on the sports field.

"The feedback has been very warm and very positive" said Fitzharrys Headteacher Jonathan Dennett. "It is great to welcome so many visitors to Fitzharrys to share the day to day experience of our school. Visiting parents have echoed what our current parents tell us, that Fitzharrys is a calm, safe and orderly school with strong behaviour for learning and courteous students. We are really proud of our students, and visitors have been really impressed by their positive attitudes in and out of the classroom."

Fitzharrys students and staff achieved record GCSE results in 2014, up 12% to 60% 5A*-C including English and Maths. A Level results were also a new school record, including for top grades. "We are delighted that there is so much interest in our school" said Mr Dennett. "These record results show that Fitzharrys has a strong foundation for further success. We always welcome visitors, and having a whole week of Open Mornings shows how proud we are of our students and of the experience they get each and every day at Fitzharrys."

As well as a new prospectus, Fitzharrys launches its new website this week. "The prospectus is written largely by the students, which shows how central they are to the success and happiness of our school" said Mr Dennett. "The new website is another way for us to showcase the achievements, spark and success of our school and to share this success with our wider community, giving more people an insight into what makes Fitzharrys School special."

Toyota unveils style options with new second generation of its popular run-around

Street artists unleashed on Aygo

REVIEW: Toyota Aygo

By James Richings

WHEN you buy a new car, as an owner you want the car to stay immaculate.

You want to try and avoid any puddles, put a cover over the car when it's raining and wear clean shoes to make sure no stains appear on the carpet.

You want your new car to be spotless.

However as Toyota announced that the second generation Aygo will be released this year, the Japanese car manufacturer has decided to be different.

At this year's Paris Motor Show, from October 4 to October 19, a trio of top street artists are using the second generation, as the canvas to create unique artwork at the French based exhibition.

Starting each day with a plain white Aygo, three French street artists, Monsta, Stom500 and Ekiem, will get to work covering the car's bodywork, windows and even wheels - with help from ideas pitched from visitors.

The creative buzz is rooted in the Aygo's customisation options and its "go fun yourself" character.

Toyota are claiming customers don't need to be artistically gifted to give their Aygo a distinctive look - because they provide a wealth of colour and finish options for bodywork styling.

To cater to that "want-it-now" feeling people have about their new cars, Toyota has set up a special centre in the UK to add the customisation features, minimising the wait time.

The new Aygo is one of Toyota's featured models at the Paris Motor Show, alongside the hydrogen-powered Fuel Cell Sedan and, making its world debut, the C-HR crossover concept.

There will be five different editions of it.

They are the Aygo x base model the Aygo x-play with Bluetooth connectivity and steering wheel controls, the Aygo x-pression with silver alloys, leather seats, multimedia system, DAB Radio, and rear view reversing camera, the Aygo x-cite special edition with 15" gloss black alloys, and the Aygo x-clusive special edition with optional 'x-nav' and Smart Entry and Start.

Barren run does not concern Ferguson

ASSISTANT coach Matt Ferguson says he is not worried by London Welsh's dismal start to their Aviva Premiership campaign.

The Exiles were beaten 52-0 by Harlequins on Saturday away at Twickenham Stoop, a fifth consecutive defeat which has seen the concession of 249 points.

However, Ferguson says it is far too early to be worried about the results and Welsh are fully focused on cutting out individual errors and being competitive for the full 80 minutes.

He said: "I'm not worried in the fact that we were all very clear from the outset about the challenge we had on our hands.

"We are just into October so it's not a case to panic and our aim is to control what we can control and put a performance together which we feel we are capable of.

"Once we've done that across the board and in all areas for 80 minutes then we will start to feel we're achieving something.

"At the moment the frustration is that we're not giving ourselves the best chance across the board."

Ferguson said last week's defeat at Harlequins left the squad hugely frustrated and insists the only way individual mistakes can be rectified is through hard-work.

He added: "The squad is the most honest in terms of their reviews and it makes our lives easier as a coach when a player is prepared to stand up and say they need to improve across the board.

"It is refreshing for a coach to work with and then straight out on the field people are striving to do that and I think that is something that will stand us in good stead.

"There is no quick fix to it and once we cut out those errors I think the game time proves that, from 60, 70 and then through to the full 80, which we are all striving to do."

Welsh are bottom of the Aviva Premiership and face 11th placed Newcastle Falcons at the Kassam Stadium on Saturday.

However, Ferguson does not believe playing a side who are only a place above them in the table adds any further importance to the match.

"We could be playing Newcastle or Northampton, it is the next game and that is important," he said.

"I don't think there is any real added significance because it is the team next to us.

"Every time we go out on to the pitch at the moment it is an important game and will continue to be every game we play in the Premiership."

Merritt praises prolific Yussuf

OXFORD City boss Justin Merritt says Adi Yussuf can be one of the best strikers in the Vanarama Conference North after he added a brace to his tally in Tuesday's 2-1 win over Stockport County.

Yussuf has scored nine goals in 13 appearances in all competitions so far this season, while City lie third in the league table.

The 22-year-old former Leicester City trainee joined City in the summer and Merritt says there is more to come from his frontman.

"We're delighted with his form," said Merritt.

"Any forward with those sort of statistics has to be pleased and there is more to come from him.

"He is in a good place but he feels he is only at three-quarters at the moment.

"I am looking for a lot more from him and I want him to be one of the top scorers in the league."

City face Solihull Moors at Marsh Lane on Saturday.

Browne urges Dragons to make chances count

FORWARD Peter Browne says London Welsh must take their chances if they are to survive in the Aviva Premiership.

The Exiles were hammered 52-0 by Harlequins last Saturday but they were not without their chances.

In the first half the visitors turned down several kickable penalties to go in search of tries, but despite periods of sustained pressure inside the Quins 22, they repeatedly left empty-handed.

Browe said: "We've got to be converting those chances.

"It was really tough.

"We put them under pressure, but then a few missed tackles and they capitalised."

Welsh have now conceded 249 points in five games and are bottom of the table with one point.

Browne added: "We're a tight-knit group, we'll get tighter from this."

Head coach praises U's mental resolve

• Michael Collins is swamped by his teammates after scoring what turned out to be the winning goal in Oxford United's 1-0 victory over Newport County (picture by Steve Daniels)

MICHAEL Appleton praised Oxford United's mental strength after his side beat Newport County 1-0 last Saturday despite being down to 10 men for over half an hour.

The only goal of the game came on 41 minutes when Michael Collins' freekick evaded everyone and nestled into the corner of the net.

However, United went down to 10 men on 55 minutes as Tyrone Barnett was shown a second yellow after innocuously catching Darren Jones off the ball.

But they held on to their lead with the returning Ryan Clarke and stand-in captain Johnny Mullins leading the way.

United moved up to 20th in Sky Bet League Two as a result and Appleton was delighted with his players' mentality.

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Head coach Appleton said: "I thought the performance showed the players that they can dig in when they need to and they showed resolve in the second half.

"It was a different side in terms of their mental resolve and I am very happy with it.

"It was a fantastic performance in the first half from an attacking point of view.

"We only got the one goal to show for it but luckily that was enough for us to hold on in the end."

United deserved their first half lead and, after creating countless opportunities, it could have been at least a three-goal lead.

Barnett and Michael Raynes went close in the opening five minutes, before the former fired wide with only Newport keeper Joe Day to beat and Danny Hylton blazed over.

However, Collins' freekick gave United something to hold on to and they needed it.

Barnett deserved a booking for a late tackle on Ismail Yakubu just after the break but his second yellow seemed harsh as Jones went down after a coming together.

Newport went close through Joe Pigott, Mark Byrne and Chris Zebroski but United were relatively comfortable.

Appleton described referee Darren Sheldrake's decision to show Barnett a second yellow card as "diabolical".

He said: "I think we found ourselves in a position that we never should have been in.

"It was a diabolical decision and it ruined a good game of football.

"I have watched it five or six times and I have never seen anything like it in my life."

United are next in action this Saturday when they make the trip to 16th placed Cambridge United from 12.15pm.

Smith ready for Motegi

MOTOGP heads for Japan this weekend and Oxford-born rider Bradley Smith is looking for a repeat of his strong finish at Aragon a fortnight ago.

Smith, 23, lies 10th in the standings with 85 points after 14 races and equalled his best result of the season in Spain on September 28 by finishing fifth.

The Monster Yamaha Tech3 rider is now looking to kick-on at Motegi and with three races in as many weeks is searching for a good haul of points this month.

Smith said: "I feel really confident we can push on from that fifth place going into these flyway races in Japan, Australia and Malaysia.

"It's vital to feel upbeat because three races can produce a big points haul.

"We really worked on our weaknesses and learnt a lot especially with braking stability which is crucial at both Motegi and Sepang."

World champion Marc Marquez leads the standings by 75 points from his teammate Dani Pedrosa, while Factory Yamaha duo Valentino Rossi and Jorge Lorenzo are third and fourth.

The last three rounds are at Phillip Island on October 19, Sepang on October 26 and Valencia on November 9.

Sorry Nomads beaten by six

OXFORD City Nomads were dumped out of the FA Vase in the second qualifying round last Saturday as they were hammered 6-0 by Slimbridge.

Substitute Jamie Martin scored a hat-trick in seven minutes, while Dean Turner, Ben Tunnicliff and Paul Fahy also found the net.

It was a one-sided affair from the first whistle, and Slimbridge took the lead on 12 minutes when Turner slotted home from Fahy's cross.

Their lead was extended on 33 minutes when Tunicliff headed home and Fahy made it 3-0 on 63 minutes, before Martin helped himself to a hat-trick.

Nomads return to Hellenic Premier Division action on Saturday and face second-placed Highmoor Ibis.

Elsewhere, Thame United advanced to the first round proper with a 4-0 win over New College but Milton United were beaten 2-1 by Farnham Town.

This weekend, Milton host Reading Town, while Thame welcome Kidlington to the ASM Stadium.

Sport Bites

Pep falls short

EDDIE Pepperell could not continue his recent impressive form last weekend as he failed to make the cut at the Alfred Dunhill Links Championship in Scotland.

The 23-year-old from Abingdon finished tied for 128th on three-over-par after failing to make the three-day cut by seven shots.

Pepperell, the World No. 174, had previously made the top five in four of his last five tournaments, and is now 59th in the European Tour's Race to Dubai standings,

Stars beaten

OXFORD City Stars' winless run in the National Ice Hockey League 1 was extended to three games last Sunday with an 11-5 defeat to Solent Devils.

Stars are currently bottom of the league with two points from six games.

They are next in action this Saturday when they face third from bottom Wightlink Raiders at the Ryde Arena.

Face-off is at 6pm.

Quins defeated

OXFORD Harlequins were condemned to a second successive defeat in the National League 3 South last Saturday after a 24-13 loss at home to Hornets.

Quins are currently eighth in the table with 10 points from five games.

Keni Fisilau's side make the trip to fourth-placed team Newton Abbot this Saturday in search of their first away win of the season.

Plato is eyeing team title at Brands Hatch

JASON Plato heads into the season finale of the British Touring Car Championship this weekend with a slight chance of pinching the title from current series leader Colin Turkington.

Plato is 50 points behind Turkington with 67 on offer at Brands Hatch, and is 50 ahead of third-placed Gordon Shedden.

He won two races at Silverstone last time out to reduce the deficit, taking his total number of victories to five for the current season.

But with the drivers' title seemingly unlikely, the Sunningwell-based driver is focusing his efforts on winning races and securing the manufacturers' championship for his MG team.

"The manufacturers' championship is at the forefront of my mind and at all costs we must win this," said Plato.

"We've got to go to Brands, hope it rains and try to win more races."

The three races at Brands Hatch will start at 11.32am, 2.22pm and 5.09pm on Sunday.

Ackling aware of "pressure" game against Bashley

GARY Ackling admits defeat at fellow strugglers Bashley on Saturday could put his position as manager of Wantage Town under threat.

The Alfredians are on an eight-match winless run in all competitions and fourth from bottom in Division One South & West.

Wantage travel to Bashley, who are two places below them in the table, on Saturday off the back of defeats to Sholing and Shortwood United.

Ackling said: "We have got to try and get three points there is no two ways about it.

"If the result was to go against us it puts pressure on us, it puts pressure on me.

"Obviously three points would ease that pressure but I am under no illusions.

"We had a meeting with the chairman (Tony Woodward) last week and he was very positive but I know that football is a cut throat business.

"He is not going to keep his patience forever."

Jack Smith and Stuart Cattell are expected to return, while Ben Brown has joined on a month's loan from Oxford City.

DIDDY HOPING FOR HOME RUN

Concannon wants Railwaymen to continue away form at The Loop

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

DIDCOT Town joint manager Ian Concannon is hoping his side can replicate their away form at Loop Meadow when they welcome Yate Town on Saturday.

The Railwaymen were fourth in Division One South & West as the Oxfordshire Guardian went to print and unbeaten in six league games.

Four of their last five league games have been away from home and Concannon is now looking to make the most of a run of fixtures at Loop Meadow.

After Saturday's visit of Yate, Didcot welcome North Leigh in the first round of the Red Insure Cup on Tuesday, Marlow in the preliminary round of the FA Trophy on October 18 and Shortwood United in the league three days later.

Concannon said: "We need to try and take our wins away and start winning at home as well.

"But we need to make it difficult for teams that come to us with regards to earning the right to play football and to win.

"It is nice to play at home and in front of your own supporters.

"There has been a few of them travelling up the M5 recently so it is nice for them to have a home game and for them to see the lads play and we're certainly looking forward to it."

He continued: "We tend to play with no fear when we go away from home and relax a bit and play more football which is good.

"Confidence is high at the minute amongst the lads so hopefully we can carry that on."

Ben Whitehead scored a 63rd minute equaliser to earn Didcot a point against Tiverton Town last Saturday.

And Concannon and Jamie Heapy now have the majority of their squad available with Lance Williams (hamstring) the only injury concern, while Sam Elkins is suspended.

Striker Ryan Brooks, who joined in the summer from Ardley United, has had no reaction since returning to action against Maidenhead United on September 30 with a hamstring injury and is available for selection.

Concannon added: "Ryan Brooks is short of match fitness but he is off the treatment table which is very positive and hopefully he will get some games in fairly soon.

"But people have got to fight to get into the side.

"Players are playing well and keeping their shirts and if you're not playing you have got to play hard and well to dislodge somebody.

"Nobody has got a divine right to play and if you are not playing you are clearly not doing something well enough to get a shirt."

As the Oxfordshire Guardian went to print, Didcot were in action at Sholing.
